LIFE SKILLS / MICRO ECONOMICS CLASSES

Teens are facing more responsibilities and are at the same time exposed to more intricate offers and outright frauds than ever before. Rising Stars believes that true home economics may be the most important skill for young adults, and the least often given.

The Rising Stars Life Skills / Micro Economics course helps assure that students are ready for new challenges in the unsheltered world of college and young adult-hood. Rising Stars offers schools and community groups a one semester series (15 – 18 hours) learning to be conscious consumers.

Some of the specific topics covered in our course include:

- Understanding How Companies Make Money
- Interest Rates, Credit Cards, Savings, and Debt
- Guarantees, Warrantees, and Lemons
- Resume Writing, Cover Letters and What to Do With Them
- Business Letters – How to Get People to Pay Attention
- A Critical Trip to the Supermarket
- An Introduction to Stocks, Bonds, and CDs
- Salesmen, Commissions, and Scams

The Micro Economics / Life Skills Class is appropriate for all students age 14 – 19. The cost to the school district is $2400 - $3000 for 12 – 15 visits, plus $75/student for materials.
